

Beginning with an overview of DLI-Washington's instructional mission, a consideration of the meaning of 'low density', and a discussion of some of the challenges of low density language training, the presentation will also include a look at DLI-Washington's current actions and future plans to address these challenges with a focus on improving proficiency outcomes.